Sorority Women Open Houses To 190 Rushees

One-hundred ninety freshmen and upperclass women have signed up for rushing, announced Mrs. Florence Currier, dean of women.

The master plan, where each woman visits each sorority house once, was last week end. This week women will be invited to open houses sponsored by each sorority from 4 to 5 p. m. and 7 to 9 p. m. through Thursday.

Friday, Feb. 12, the first group of parties start. Rushees may accept five invitations to this set of parties. At these more informal parties, bobby sox will be in order, according to the Association of Women Students Handbook. Coke and pop corn or potato chips will be served.

The following week, rushees may accept four invitations to parties. The parties will be more formal. More elaborate refreshments will be served. Sorority women may wear costumes that follow the theme of the party.

From Feb. 23 to 25, will be the formal dinners. According to the Handbook, rushees may accept three invitations. It also mentions that rushing at this stage is serious business both on the part of the sorority and rushee, but accepting an invitation is not binding.

Rushees sign up for bids Feb. 26 in Dean Currier's office. Bids will be delivered Feb. 27.

Cut System Stays Same This Term

The cut system in effect last semester will remain in use this semester, according to administration officials.

This system allows the professor to determine the number of cuts permitted to students. When the instructor thinks the student has been absent too many times and his grades are in jeopardy, the instructor sends the student's name to the proper dean.

Administration members said this temporary system will remain in effect until the executive council can work out a better plan.

Early Application Is Necessary For Assistantships

Students planning to submit applications for graduate assistantships and fellowships for the 1954-55 school year should do so before March 1, reports Dr. Emerson C. Shuck, Dean of the Graduate School.

Applications may be obtained at the Graduate School office or by writing Dean Shuck.

Assistantship stipends range from $600 to $1,800 for the academic year, however, most positions offer $1,000 and remission of all registration fees with approximately one-third time service to the department offering the assistantship, said Dean Shuck.

Usually one summer session in addition to regular studies will be sufficient to complete a master's degree for students holding these positions.

A number of graduate fellowships are also offered each year in several departments. These carry stipends of from $600 to $1,200 plus registration fees. A restricted amount of service to the student's major department is also required in these positions.

Assistantships are available in the following departments: biology, economics, history, English, mathematics, psychology, sociology, and several departments under speech and education. Additional information can be obtained from Dean Shuck.

Students are selected by the department offering the assistantship on individual merit and scholastic achievement.

Crowded lounges and cheerful babbling prevailed throughout Sorority Row Saturday afternoon as 190 rushees visited the various houses in shifts getting insights into the lives of Girl Greeks.

Plan Tri-Faith Theme For REW, Speakers, Panel Discussion Set

"Religion — Major or Minor?" is the theme for this year's Religious Emphasis Week, to be held Feb. 15-17. It is a tri-faith affair, with the Jewish, Catholic, and Protestant groups participating.

Three main speakers who will address the student body at 11 a. m., those three days are Fr. Paul Reinert, president of St. Louis University; Dr. Benard Clausen, a Jewish Chautauqua Society representative; and Rabbi Norman Kahan, of Lima. They will speak in the Main Aud., and classes will be shortened during the three mornings in order that as many of the students and faculty as possible can have the opportunity to hear these men.

These speakers and others, representing the three faiths, will lead seminars, hold personal conferences, participate in dormitory bull sessions, and a panel discussion with students among other events.

On the University Religious Activities Committee, of which Ralph G. Harshman is chairman, are Stuart R. Givens, Melvin Hyman, and Howard Kane. Student members are Ronald Cohen, John Cold, and Frank Gould.

At the helm of the REW committee is Donald Davis. Other committee heads are Maxine Brown, bull sessions; Eleanor Du Pes, book display; Nancy Hartman and Brad Greenberg, printed program; Sandra Levy, coffee hour; David Rowe, personal consultations; John Lucio, welcoming committee; Theodore Prueter, publicity; and Seldon Rockowitz, seminars and panel discussions. Fritzie Heindorff planned the cover design for the programs.

Studies For Ph.D.

The University of Michigan at Ann Arbor has been the choice of Anthony B. Baynard, assistant professor of foreign language, for work on his Ph. D. degree, said Mrs. Baynard, temporary instructor of foreign language at Bowling Green.

Miss Gould Joins University Staff

Miss Natalie Gould has been appointed administrative assistant to the president, Dr. Ralph W. McDonald has announced.

Miss Gould was formerly assistant secretary of the Association for Higher Education of the National Education Association. She has been assistant secretary of the National Commission on Teacher Education and Professional Standards of the NEA in Washington, D.C., before coming to Bowling Green.

Pres. McDonald, Fraternity Officers Discuss Problems

Pres. Ralph W. McDonald will meet with officers of the 14 fraternities Wednesday evening in a discussion of housing problems for these groups.

The meeting will be held at 7 p. m. in the Rec Hall. Letters have been sent to each fraternity, asking that the officers from their group attend.

President McDonald, and Dean of Students Arch B. Conklin will represent the University in the discussion.

President McDonald said they will discuss such matters as financing the on-campus fraternity houses, paying for use of kitchen facilities, and University housing plans will be outlined, and the long-range policy explained.

Summer Session Will Be Different

A new plan for this year's summer session will be inaugurated by Bowling Green State University, announced Dr. Ralph G. Harshman, dean of administration. The plan consists of two separate sessions; the first beginning on June 14, running for six weeks until July 23; the second beginning on July 26, running for five weeks until Aug. 27.

Last summer, the University operated the summer session under a plan consisting of an eight-week session and a three week post-summer session, Dean Harshman stated.

The summer-session plan was changed to the six-week, five-week agenda to coincide with the state educational plan, which works on the basis of six hours credit instead of nine hours credit.

The purpose of the new agenda is to enable students to carry six hours each term, giving them a total of 12 hours in summer session, Dean Harshman said.

Air Force Students Take Aptitude Tests

Physical examinations and a battery of aptitude tests were given to Air Science II cadets last week to determine eligibility for flight training and entry into the advanced Air Force ROTC course, according to Capt. A. D. Joseph Jr., public information officer.

12 Profs Are On Leave Of Absence

Twelve faculty members on leave of absence from the University include: A. B. Baynard, assistant professor of foreign language, who is at the University of Michigan; Joseph C. Burford, assistant professor of geography, who is attending the University of California; Wayne F. Cornell, associate professor of mathematics, now attending Ohio State University; John R. Davidson, assistant professor of business administration, who is at Ohio State University; Howard B. Huffman, assistant professor of business administration, who is at Ohio State University; and Clyde Hissong, professor of education, who is working as State Director of Education in Columbus.

Also on leave of absence from the University are: Oldreich Jicha, assistant professor of business administration, who is at the University of Michigan; Frank L. Miesle, assistant professor of speech, who is at Ohio State University; Beryl M. Parrish, assistant professor of English, who is at Ohio State University; Donald C. Peterson, instructor of journalism, who is at the University of Wisconsin; Eugene D. Schmiedl, instructor in education, who is now at Western Reserve University; and Ray Yeager, instructor in speech, who is at Ohio State University.

Two faculty members back from leave of absence are: Alma J. Payne, assistant professor of English, and James C. Wright, assistant professor of psychology.

Wednesday Closing Date For Fraternity Rush Registration

FTA To Sponsor Pre-Teacher Day

More than 250 high school seniors from 29 schools in northwestern Ohio will be on campus tomorrow for a Pre-Teacher Day. The pre-teaching day is being held by the Walter A. Zaugg chapter of the Future Teachers of America, announced Juanita Richardson, president of the chapter.

Registration will begin at nine in the morning and Pres. Ralph W. McDonald and Dr. Herschel Litherland, Dean of the College of Education, will give a welcoming address to the students at 9:30, following registration.

Following the welcoming address a panel discussion entitled "Preparing for Teaching," will be presented by four University students, with Dr. John E. Gee, director of secondary education, acting as moderator.

William Melvin will start the discussion by a talk on enrollment and orientation at a university. Patricia Smith will explain the makeup of the College of Education at Bowling Green. Jack Taylor will then discuss the social life on a college campus and Miss Richardson will explain professional interests and relationships at a university.

Dr. Zaugg will address the students in the afternoon session on "Choosing Your School." After the address the students will visit the departments of the University in which they are interested.

Artist Series Date Is Postponed

Merrill C. McEwen, chairman of the Artist Series Committee, said that the date of Richard Tucker's appearance at Bowling Green has been changed from Feb. 5 to March 30. Mr. McEwen said ticket holders should keep their tickets as new ones will not be issued.

The Metropolitan Opera Association in New York asked the Artist Series Committee of Bowling Green to change the date so that Mr. Tucker could appear in New York on Feb. 6. Mr. Tucker will sing the tenor role in Verdi's opera, "La Traviata," which will be presented over a nation-wide radio network.

With this change in the date of Mr. Tucker's appearance, the next Artist Series presentation will be given by the Boston Pops Orchestra on March 7.

Students planning to rush any fraternity this semester must sign up before 4 p. m. Wednesday, Feb. 10, in the Dean of Students Office. This is the deadline that was set by Interfraternity Council Wednesday night. It was their first weekly meeting of the second semester.

The same rule remains in effect that at least a 2.0 average, or the accumulative of a 2.0 average, must be achieved before a student is allowed to go active in any fraternity.

The new rushing system will be abolished, and a return to a system similar to the old rushing system, is no doubt very near in the future, as shown by the unanimous vote of Interfraternity councilmen in favor of doing away with the present system.

A committee was appointed by Herbert Scogg, IFC president, to set up another system of rushing. Additions and omissions seem likely to occur in the old rushing system, but it was decided that the new plan will evolve around it.

"Probably the biggest problem facing IFC this semester is the establishing of a permanent rushing system," Scogg said, "and we must make one that will stand, and be stable."

A Phi O To Remit Money For Sales

The Alpha Phi Omega Used Book Store will be open Thursday, Feb. 11, and Tuesday, Feb. 16, from 9 a. m. to 12 noon, and 1 to 4 p. m. to pay money to students for books sold this semester, announced Harry Thal, manager.

Students may also pick up obsolete books at this time, Thal said. All persons must have their receipts to obtain money or obsolete books.

Over $4,000 of business was transacted, a record for second semester, he stated. More than 2,000 books were brought in for re-sale, the largest number ever handled in any semester.

Danforth Foundation Offered To Seniors

College seniors and recent graduates, preparing for a career in college teaching and intending to enter graduate school in September, may apply for Graduate Fellowships to the Danforth Foundation of St. Louis, Mo.

President Ralph W. McDonald has named Leon E. Fauley as Liaison Officer to work with the Danforth Foundation on the selection of candidates. These appointments carry a promise of financial aid within prescribed conditions according to need. The Foundation welcomes applicants from any field of specialization found in the undergraduate college.

The qualifications of the candidate as listed in the announcement from the Foundation are evidence of superior intellectual ability in college record; good record of health and emotional stability; outgoing personality and concern for people, essential for successful teaching; choice of vocation of teaching as form of Christian Service; and deep religious convictions and growing religious perspectives.

Any students wishing further information should get in touch with Mr. Fauley, 210 PA Bldg. Applications are due by Feb. 15.

Haak And Soule Named To Staff

Two assistant issue editors for the B-G News have been named for the coming semester, Carol Sutliff, editor, has announced.

Elaine Haak, senior, is assistant to Francis McLean and Ronald Soule, junior, will work with Gerald Murray. Both will join the Tuesday-issue staff of the B-G News.

Recommendation Offers Challenge

The Council of Student Affairs, which was fundamentally responsible for the revision of car regulations, recently presented a valuable report on dishonest and lax student-faculty practices in scholastic matters.

This student-faculty group has studied the cheating situations which have been happening on campus and suggested seven points by which the faculty can help remedy the situation.

This move to prevent cheating is one appreciated by students who are interested in learning, and in doing so honestly. There are a great many students who would rather fail a course than cheat, and it is discouraging, to say the least, to find those who do cheat sometimes getting the better grade. Critics might say the grade does not matter, but in our educational system it is still the criteria of success in a course.

The Council's recommendation that faculty members "Construct new examinations for each section of a course, and each semester the course is given," is a move all students will agree is needed. The knowledge that the same test will be given each semester automatically limits the most ambitious student's interest in studying for the course, simply because he feels that the professor himself does not have much interest in the topic.

The final point suggested by the Council is excellent. "Improve instruction continually in order to stimulate intellectual integrity through creating greater student interest in subject matter." In this there is a challenge to both students and faculty. A teacher worthy of that title can continually improve his instruction and should always strive to stimulate interest in his students. With renewed emphasis by the faculty, students will gain greater benefits from every course. True students will appreciate finding interest and stimulation in some of the "deadly" courses where both the professor and the students have let interest lag.

The challenge of this statement can give a renewed vitality to the educational life of the University.

Reverse Procedure

We are well into the fifth day of classes of the new semester. Still holding firm to that new-semester's resolution to keep up on the daily classroom work?

One of our reporters did a bit of investigating and found that even the students with top grades have only one suggestion for getting them: study. However, there is a right and a wrong way to study, as most people soon learn. If you are interested in the wrong way, try the suggestions offered by the other article, on "How To Fail." And if it's the right way you are looking for, you might read those suggestions anyway. Just reverse most of them and you'll find some sure-fire ideas for getting good grades.

Tribute To Talent

Paintings by five University art students are now hanging in President McDonald's outer office as part of a "rotating gallery" arrangement. The ones on display now were done by Nancy Weinmann, Dorothy Baden, Eleanor Fuerst, Pat Loomis, and Mary Jeanne Connelly.

These fine works were chosen by the art department faculty as the first to be on display. Other student paintings will be hung in the office during the semester.

This rotating gallery is a fine compliment not only to the individual artists represented in the display, but to all outstanding student talent.

Planning To Flunk? Striving To Pass May Require Less Perseverance

By JACK SEWARD

The following are 15 easy ways in which to fail a course, as written by Jack Seward for the Oregon State Daily Barometer.

Enter the course as late as possible. By changing your mind about the curriculum after school starts, you should be able to avoid classes until the second or third week.

Do not bother with a textbook. Put your social life ahead of everything else. If necessary, cultivate a few friendships in the class. Interesting conversation should be able to drown out the noise of the lecture.

Observe how seedy most professors look and treat them accordingly.

Make yourself comfortable when you study. If possible, draw up an easy chair by a window.

Have a few friends handy during the study period so that you can chat when the work becomes dull.

If you must study, try to lump it all together and get it over with. The most suitable time would be the last week of school.

Keep your study table interesting. Place photographs, magazines, goldfish bowls, games and other recreational devices all around you while studying.

Use mnemonic devices on everything you learn. Since they are easy to forget, this approach prevents your mind from getting cluttered up with stale facts.

Never interrupt your reading by checking on what you have learned. Recitation is not very pleasant anyhow, since it shows up your deficiencies.

Avoid bothering with notebooks. If you plan to use one anyhow, so that you can draw pictures of airplanes during the lecture, try to follow the simplest arrangement; keep all notes for a given day on the same sheet of paper.

Remind yourself frequently how dull the course is. Never lose sight of the fact that you really wanted to sign up for something else.

Review only the night before examination, and confine this to trying to guess what the teacher will ask.

Find out exactly when your final examination will be over so that you can plan to forget everything about the course at that moment.

Stay up all night before important examinations. You can spend the first half of the evening discussing your determination to "bone" and the latter half drinking coffee.

By PAT GUTHMAN

If you're looking for a magic formula for getting good grades, forget it. There isn't any. We tried to find one—we went around campus talking to professors and calling people who consistently get good grades and they all agreed—to succeed you need to work hard and persevere.

Could it be that after all these years of hearing that statement there is really something to it? Not wanting to give up this long-cherished dream we asked questions until we discovered some of the angles that these people use to supplement their diligence.

One junior stated, "At the beginning of each semester I try to analyze the professor, to find out if he will stress minute details or generalities; then I know what to look for in the text book and in his lectures." Another stated that she always "laughs at the professor's jokes."

Quite a few of these people stressed the idea of paying attention in class and taking good class notes, "because the average professor bases his tests partly on the lecture material." Also, "The individual who takes notes won't have to study as hard after class."

One student offered this suggestion, "You have to establish yourself in the class as an individual, not just another name on the class role. This may be in the form of classroom recitation or interviews with the instructor."

Most students feel that they won't be labeled a handshaker if they recite. They say it is obvious to most individuals the difference between a student who is trying to butter-up a professor after class and one who is making an effort to have a point clarified.

The views of the other students on why students get low grades was summed up well by one senior, "They are just lazy or they have too many outside interests which prevent them from keeping up with the assignments. The primary rule in getting a high point average is never letting yourself get behind, because it is almost impossible to catch up. It is rare when a student doesn't have the capacity to get average grades."

Book and Motor members seem to feel that motivation is as important as natural ability in getting ahead. If a person has drive with mediocre intelligence he can get almost as far as a person who has natural ability and doesn't use it, they feel.

"Good grades are a necessity for getting into any recognized graduate school," said a senior. He added, "If competition is high for a job, the person with the highest average has the best chance."

These students pointed out that outside activities are important in rounding out personality. "Besides, studying all the time gets boring and makes you that way also."

Try these tempting Cakes and Pastries and taste the wonderful difference.

Lowell Directs Poetry Seminar At Cincinnati

A glance at exchange papers from other midwestern universities reveals that they are confronting many of the same issues as Bowling Green, including expansion, enrollment, and finals. But another glance reveals some interesting happenings not quite so similar. Here are a few of them:

Robert Lowell, New England poet and 1947 Pulitzer Prize winner for poetry, will hold a seminar in American poetry and a poetry workshop this month at Cincinnati University.

Eleanor Roosevelt spoke to Kent Staters on Monday concerning "World Concepts of Communism." Her lecture was followed by a luncheon in the Student Union ballroom, under the auspices of the Cultural Programs Committee.

Inter-fraternity Council at Illinois Institute of Technology adopted a Korean child for the year 1954 under the Foster Parents' Plan for War Children, Inc. The $180 expense will be defrayed from fraternity contributions.

Denison University's annual Winter Carnival was featured on TV Sunday, Jan. 10, as Kukla, Fran, and Ollie presented a take-off in line with their ice show.

The U.S. Office of Education revealed that Ohio State granted 76 per cent of all doctor's degrees awarded by Ohio colleges and universities in 1952-53. The figure was 272 out of 385. Also, Ohio University granted 21 per cent of all degrees conferred in the state of Ohio.

A color motion picture about evening sessions at Toledo University was presented on TV Jan. 14 over WSPD. The film was produced as a laboratory project at TU.

Lines at Deadline

POST MORTEM ON EXAMS: Exams always bring a flurry of bluebook sales. About 12,000 of them were sold during final exam week, Paul Shepherd, manager of the bookstore, reports. He said the average is three blue books per student. The bookstore buys them in lots of 25,000 for a semester.

Wonder how many words it takes to fill those 12,000 books. Or how long it takes a student to recover from the shock and mental strain of filling one of them, or worse yet, of not being able to fill one.

LIBRARY RESEARCH: Trying to find an empty chair in the Library to do a bit of studying? Take note of these facts and figures from a current library survey.

Tuesday is apparently the day that brings out the best in student intentions: traffic to the Library is heaviest on Tuesdays, followed by Wednesday, Monday, Thursday, Friday, Saturday, and Sunday.

The count indicates a homeward migration Friday afternoons as the reading population drops for the week end. Heaviest reading hours are from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. and 7:30 to 8:30 p.m.

Library socializers can now plan their schedules to be in the Library when they are sure most of their friends will be there.

HORROR DEPT.: A second-semester, sure, I'm - planning - to - graduate senior woke up screaming the other night. His roommate asked what the trouble was. "I dreamed I was a freshman," the trembling fellow replied.

Falcons Break Even Between Semesters

The Falcons broke even on the four games played during the semester vacation. They came out of the tour winning over Ohio University and Marquette and losing to Western Kentucky and Marshall College.

OHIO UNIVERSITY

The Bowling Green Falcons upped their Mid-American Conference record to 4-2 as they survived a fourth quarter rally by Ohio University and downed the Bobcats, 78-72, on Jan. 22, at Athens, O.

After a nip-and-tuck first half, the Falcons held a 34-27 edge. Then Bill Rogers sparked a third period drive which widened the gap to 61-38. Near the end of the period, Coach Harold Anderson started emptying the bench and the bubble nearly burst.

With Morris, Nuzum, and Weinbrecht carrying the scoring load, Ohio U. scored 34 points in a desperate rally but apparently they had started too late in the game.

Al Bianchi again led Bowling Green with a 23 point effort, followed by Lou Drago with 17. Jim Betts was high for Ohio U. with 19 points.

Clarence Yackey's great defensive play was an important factor in the loosely played contest. Yackey limited the Bobcats' high-scoring Lou Sawchik, who had been averaging close to 23 points a game, to a single field goal and a four-point total.

MARSHALL

Bowling Green's cagers lost a heartbreaker to Marshall College by a score of 91-87 Jan. 23.

The first quarter at the Huntington Memorial Fieldhouse was very close, with BG breaking on top 20-19. The Falcons slowly moved ahead until, by halftime, they had compiled a seven-point lead. BG led through most of the third quarter by about 10 points.

Then, in the final two minutes of the quarter, Marshall scored 10 points while holding the Falcons to 2, and proceeded to nose ahead 66-65 at the end of the quarter.

With less than half a minute left, Bianchi put in a field goal, making the score 89-87. With 20 seconds remaining, York, after being fouled by Hecker, sunk two shots from the line giving Marshall a safer lead, 91-87.

In the final seconds Gerber missed two foul attempts, and all further efforts on BG's part were useless as Marshall handed Coach Harold Anderson's squad its fourth loss of the season.

BG's big Jim Gerber took high scoring honors for the game by tallying 28 points. Close behind with 26 was Bianchi. The top scorer for the winners was Robinson, who sunk 7 field goals and made 10 foul attempts for a total of 24.

MARQUETTE

Al Bianchi poured through 37 points for the second time this season to lead Bowling Green to an 86-79 victory over the Hilltoppers from Marquette Jan. 31 at home.

The Falcons got off to a slow start and had to make up an 11-point deficit early in the second frame. They moved to a 47-42 halftime lead and from there in they never trailed.

Bianchi hit his hottest pace when the Falcons trailed 30-19 with eight minutes remaining in the second period. Bianchi rolled up 17 points to push the Falcons to their halftime lead.

Clarence Yackey turned in a fine piece of defensive work by holding Marquette's sophomore star Terry Rand to 12 points for the evening.

Jim Gerber chalked up 19 counters before bowing out on fouls early in the final stanza.

In the third period Marquette moved to within four points of the Falcons but again Bianchi boosted the hometeam to a 76-65 lead and that was the ball game.

WESTERN KENTUCKY

Undefeated Western Kentucky won number 20 Feb. 1 at Louisville, but had to go all out to down the luckless Falcons from Bowling Green 94-82.

Coach Ed Diddle's fast-breaking Hilltoppers were only out in front by five points when the two raucous fouled out. A five-point margin had prevailed throughout most of the contest to that point.

Then seven straight points put the game on ice for the Kentucky five. The two teams battled the first part of the opening period on even terms. It was tied five times before Forrest Able's charity toss broke a 10-all deadlock and Western moved on to a 15-10 lead. Bowling Green never gained the lead again.

Monday afternoon before the game Western Kentucky accepted a bid to the National Invitational Tournament to be held in New York early in March. The Hilltoppers were the first team to accept a bid to the Eastern classic.

Jim Gerber led the Orange and Brown attack with 24 while Clarence Yackey was hitting the hoops for 20. Bianchi scored 19 before going out on personals. Western's All-American forward Tom Marshall took honors for the Hilltoppers with 31.

Falcons Hit Century Mark In MAC Win; Gerber Scores 38

Jim Gerber, in playing one of the finest games of his college career, scored 38 points to lead Bowling Green to a 100-70 win over the second best offensive team in the country, Marshall College, at Bowling Green on Feb. 6.

The Falcons got out in front in the opening minutes of play 2-1, and went on to roll up their fifth conference game. They have lost three, one of their losses coming at the hands of the same Marshall five two weeks ago 91-87.

Coach Harold Anderson's men rolled up a 10-4 lead when the Big Green called a time out. The time out only delayed Marshall's fate as the Orange and Brown continued their pace to gain a 31-15 first quarter score.

BG then increased the lead to 49-31 by halftime. Al Bianchi then began his deadly jump, scoring nine points in the third frame to lead the Falcons to a 75-46 lead.

The fans began to hope for the century mark, which most of them had never seen on the BG floor. Gerber promptly scored eight field goals and two foul shots, then Jack Hecker put in the two-pointer which gave the Falcons their hundredth point.

Bianchi kept up his average with 26 counters, and spark plug Lou Drago put in 16. Walt Walowac scored 23 for the Big Green, and Dave Robinson made 16.

Tankers Hold 3-2 Mark, Win Three Straight

Bowling Green's swimming team is back in the winning column and anxious to remain there. After dunkings at the hands of Loyola of Chicago and Kenyon, the Falcon tankers scored three straight impressive wins over Albion College, Fenn and the University of Cincinnati.

Although Kenyon is rated as one of the top swim teams in the state, they had to stave off a determined BG squad. The meet was decided in the final event, the 400-yard free style relay, in which Kenyon set a new dual meet record, covering the course in 3:44.5, clipping approximately six seconds off the previous record of 3:50.4 set by BG in 1948.

Coach Sam Cooper's tankers had little trouble with Albion, swamping the Michigan school 51-33. Bowling Green captured first and third places in every event with the exception of the 200-yard breast stroke and the 400-yard free style.

Fenn College received an even sounder trouncing than Albion. The Falcons took first place in every event except low diving; to add insult to injury, BG took seven of the nine second places. The 300-yard medley relay team of Scogg, Levy, and Gerbing broke the dual meet record of 3:13.1 by five seconds as they swam the 12 lengths in 3:09.5.

Saturday the Falcons piled up their highest score of the season, defeating U. of Cincinnati 76-21. After taking complete control of the first six events, BG coasted home with the reserves seeing most of the action.

Matmen Drop To Case, Stop Oberlin; To Meet Findlay

The Falcon wrestlers looked both good and bad in their last two meets as they swamped Oberlin 24-5 and were victims of the same against Case 23-3 last Friday in Cleveland. The split gives BG a record of two wins and a like number of setbacks.

Oberlin proved no match for the Falcons and could manage only one decision and a draw in eight bouts. In the 167-pound bracket, Oberlin's Tom Murphey decided Toni Mencini and in the 167-pound division, Howard Goodrich held Falcon Hal Bruck to a draw. The rest of the meet was all BG.

The Falcons shot off to a 3-0 lead against Case when Dave Hoskinson decided Jerry Silver in the 123-pound division. That was all the Falcon scoring for the evening. Case won all of the remaining eight bouts, and rolled to an easy 23-3 win.

The Falcons travel to Findlay today to meet a tough Findlay College squad. Findlay boasts a 3-1 record, their only defeat coming at the hands of Ohio State. The Oilers defeated Ohio U., who beat the locals, early in the season. However, Coach Bellard is optimistic about the meet. He said "I figure most of our weaknesses are matched against their strong points, and we should be able to take full advantage of our strong points."

Bellard also announced the return of one of last year's lettermen, Andy Tolas. He added that Dan Kaiser, ineligible for the Case meet, would probably be back in action. "It should be a good match, and I think we can beat Findlay," he said.

Students must exchange their student ticket no. 11 for a reserved ticket in order to attend the Toledo basketball game tonight. The exchange may be made at the athletic office in the Men's Gym.

BG Meets Toledo Tonight; Must Game For Falcons

By DON GETTER

Bowling Green will try to knock the Toledo Rockets out of first place in the Mid-American Conference tonight when they encounter Coach Jerry Bush's squad at the Sports Arena in Toledo.

The Falcons defeated TU 78-66 in their first game this year. Rebounding proved the difference in the first tilt, and should give BG the edge tonight.

Toledo is now in first place in the conference, and the Falcons must win to even hope for the title.

If BG defeats the Rockets tonight and Miami next week, and wins the remainder of their league games, they will end the season with a 10-3 record.

Miami has now lost two, and if BG defeats the Redskins next week, Miami will end the season with a 9-3 mark.

BG Must Win

Toledo has lost but one game so far, and if the Falcons win tonight TU must still be defeated again in one of its remaining games to give BG the title. With the title comes the invitation to the National Collegiate Athletic Association basketball tournament to be held in Chicago in March.

Coach Harold Anderson will start the usual five, composed of

Peace Pipe Game

Bowling Green's remaining games include OU, Western Reserve, Miami, Duquesne, Dayton, and Western Michigan.

This game will be the presentation of the Peace Pipe. The winner of the first BG-TU contest of each season is presented with the Peace Pipe at the halftime ceremony of the second game. Since the Falcons won the first game, they will receive the Peace Pipe at tonight's game.

IT'S ALL A MATTER OF TASTE

*We didn't like the pretty hat
That I had set my heart on,

When you come right down to it, you smoke for one simple reason . . . enjoyment. And smoking enjoyment is all a matter of taste. Yes, taste is what counts in a cigarette. And Luckies taste better.

Two facts explain why Luckies taste better. First, L.S./M.F.T.—Lucky Strike means fine tobacco . . . light, mild, good-tasting tobacco. Second, Luckies are actually made better to taste better . . . always round, firm, fully packed to draw freely and smoke evenly.

So, for the enjoyment you get from better taste, and only from better taste, Be Happy—Go Lucky. Get a pack or a carton of better-tasting Luckies today.

*You may be from a northern state;
You may be from Kentucky;
But, nation-wide, here's one good tip:
Be Happy and Go Lucky!*

BG Participates In Tournament For High Schools

Bowling Green State University has been invited to take part in the National Intercollegiate Bridge Tournament, said Mrs. Waldo Steidtmann, adviser. There will be a single session of play on Thursday, Feb. 18, at 7 p.m. in the Senate room of the Student Center.

Any undergraduate is eligible to enter, and may do so by contacting Mrs. Steidtmann, 37574. As the director reserves the right to limit the number of tables in play, those who are interested should sign up as soon as possible, she said.

Colleges winning the national titles will be awarded cups, one for the college of the pair scoring highest on the North-South hands, and one for the college of the East-West hand winners. These cups are retained by the college until the following year's champion is decided. Each of the four individuals will receive a small cup for permanent possession.

Last year a bronze plaque was presented to Bowling Green and the names of the campus winners, Jerry Helwig, Philip Bremser, Dave Lacey, and Richard Phinney, were engraved on it. This plaque will be on display at the meeting of the All-Campus Bridge Club Thursday. This year's campus winners will have their names added to the plaque and receive certificates suitable for framing. It will then be put on display in the case in the Ad Bldg.

French Honorary Initiates Eighteen

The eighteenth annual initiation of Beta Pi Theta, local recognition society in French, is planned for Wednesday, Feb. 24. The meeting is scheduled for 7 p.m. in Studio B of the PA Bldg., Chester Wasilowski, president of the honorary, has announced.

The eight students to be initiated at the formal meeting are Carol Croft, Beverly Fulton, Richard Miller, Don Roper, John Ryckaert, Angela Steigerwald, and Barbara Roberts.

Organization Plans Future Univ. Services

Future events and plans of Omega Phi Alpha, women's service fraternity, were announced by Joyce Kautzman, secretary.

A baby-sitting agency is being planned and Jean Perlioni and Jody Daigneau are acting as co-chairmen with Marian Searcy and Arlene Kiltie assisting in making the arrangements.

New drapes and the decoration of the library lounge will be another of the group's projects. Linda Wipior, Pat Clark, Pat Vietmeier, Carolyn Minnery, and Shirley Nelson are committee members who will be in charge of the work.

The members are stuffing envelopes to assist in the Crippled Children's Drive. They are meeting in their lounge at the Student Center during their free hours and will meet 9:30 to 11:00 a.m. Saturday, March 13, to complete the stuffing.

A typing service will be inaugurated and Joan Heiser will check on rates and the need for such a service. Nancy Brown, Jody Daigneau, Janice Puhl, Carole Coles, and Barbara Weeks are working with the Scout Troops in Bowling Green.

Pat Vietmier was elected as the new treasurer to replace Jennie Shelley, and Audrey Stieber, Joann Schroeder, Kathy Swigart, Jean Perlioni, and Carolyn Hill were appointed to take charge of the publicity.

Famous Author Is Banquet Speaker

A Pennsylvania newspaper-woman, well-known as the author of the best-seller, "It Happens Every Thursday," was the speaker at the banquet of the Northwestern Ohio Newspaper Association held Friday night at the Commons. Mrs. Jane S. McIlvaine, wife of the editor of the Downingtown (Pa.) Archive told the group some of the highlights of her career in journalism on a small town paper.

The banquet and speech climaxed the annual winter meeting of the N.O.N.A., which was held on this campus Friday afternoon and evening. Its theme was "News—The Newspaper's First Concern." A panel discussion of this topic was included in the afternoon program, the members of the panel, consisting of Jack Park, editor, Ottawa County Exponent; J. W. Pinkstone, publisher, Swanton Enterprise; Mrs. Mary Fay, editor, Edon Commercial; and Tom Riodon, editor, Greenwich Enterprise Review.

The newspaper show, held in the Rec Hall, consisted of a display of over thirty newspapers from the Northwestern Ohio area. A new give-away program was initiated as a part of the shop-talk session in the afternoon.

Charter members and "old-timers" in the Association were honored following the banquet. This ceremony was also a new addition to the program.

New Bridge Club Officers Announced

All-Campus Bridge Club will meet at 7 p.m. Thursday in the Senate room of the Student Center, announced Sally Schmidt, president.

Membership in the club is open to anyone connected with the University. The dues are $1 a semester or 25 cents for each meeting attended. Meetings are held the second and fourth Thursday of each month.

New officers include Sally Schmidt, president; Sumner Danielson, vice-president; and Joan Brown, secretary - treasurer. John Coash and Mrs. Waldo Steidtmann serve as advisers and tournament directors.

At the last meeting of the club, progressive rubber bridge was played and prizes for high scores were awarded to Sumner Danielson, Barb Heller, Nannette Strigow, and Joan Brown.
